DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

The claim recites a "game number recording section" and a "correct digit recording section". The names for these elements imply a function. However, one cannot determine if applicant intends to invoke 35 USC 112, sixth paragraph means plus function language. If such language is intended applicant should explicitly use means for language in the claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Mega Millions.

Shown is at least one board on the right two thirds of the ticket having a plurality of numbers that are divided into a plurality of groups "play A", "play B" and "play C" that are further divided into an upper and lower zone by at least one landmark line in the middle of each group. On the upper left of the slip is a game number recording section entitled "SELECT ONE" and below that is a section considered to be a correct digit recording section. Note that were the names of the sectional of the ticket being claimed implies a function, such does not distinguish over the applied art. While features of an apparatus may be recited either structurally or functionally, claims directed to an apparatus must be distinguished from the prior art in terms of structure rather than function. >In re Schreiber, 128 F.3d 1473, 1477-78, 44 USPQ2d 1429, 1431-32 (Fed. Cir. 1997).

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Alvarez shows a typical lottery play slip.
